Website Report

- Performance
- Best Practices
- Accessibility
- SEO ranking

The only minor issues found are:

- Reduce initial server response timeProperly size images. Themes, plugins, and server specifications all contribute to server response time. Consider finding a more optimised theme, carefully selecting an optimisation plugin, and/or upgrading your server.
- Image elements do not have explicit width and height. Set an explicit width and height on image elements to reduce layout shifts and improve CLS.

Roadmap was found on the website and is displayed above.

Some of the project's milestones have been completed, but there are a few bullets that have not been addressed at the time of the Audit analysis.

Potential dangers for remaining

- Listing on CoinMarketCap requires a lot of trading volume and holders.
- Listing on Coingecko requires a lot of trading volume and holders.
- An application like an exchange needs a lot of resources and time. It is almost impossible to deliver all those applications in a relatively short period.

Team & Whitepaper

Team was found on the website.

The team has publicly shown names and profiles. This is a generally good sign as most project's teams choose to stay behind the scenes. Not much activity is shown on those profiles on the other hand.

WhitePaper was found on the website.

The project is displaying a thorough competitor analysis on their whitepaper, indicating why they are a unique project.

Your Score

CEX is a mid/low risk project, with a growing community and a very interesting roadmap. The smart contract analysis showed no warnings but there is a function that disables buying and selling. Some projects have implemented a disable sell pattern to stop bots from sniping but on the other hand the admins can disable selling anytime. The Whitepaper focuses on explaining the bonus features of CEX versus its competitors and the upcoming features. Renouncing ownership is recommended to provide more trust to the community that they will not exploit any admin functions.
